Linda Evans:

The Reluctant Celebrity

737 N. La Salle St.

THINK of a distaff TV star who isn't concerned about seeing her name or photo in the public prints, who avoids openings where the celebrated gather to be seen, and who doesn't make a scene at the Hollywood "in" spots, and chances are the girl you have in mind is Linda Evans. The svelte, beautiful blonde who co-stars in ABC-TV's The Big Valley [Mondays, 9 p. m., channel 7], believes that publicity without a purpose is so much wasted time and space.

"GETTING one's name in gossip columns, for example, is just an exercise in trivia," she maintains, "and the same goes for cheesecake and pin-up photos. And it isn't necessary for an actress to be seen in the 'right' places with the 'right' people. The 'right' people are frequently wrong. "I appreciate my leisure hours and feel that my personal life is my own something to be shared with companions of my choice. After I've finished work, I want to relax and to forget that I'm an actress. I play a part during the day. At night, I enjoy being myself.'

Frank Singtra and All That Jazz

H OLLYWOOD - "Good jazz may be going but it's not going without a struggle from me," Frank Sinatra said

"As long as my vocal chards hold out then I expect to be singing the good songs, the songs with style, beauty and rhythm." he promised.

Demonstrating this determination Sinatra will present his third major television special. A Man and His Music nlus Ella nlus Johim starring Sinatra. Ella Fitzgerald and Guitarist Antonio Carlos Jobim, in color on NBC Monday [8-9 p. m., channel 5.1

"That's one reason why I decided to do these television specials in the first place.' explained Sinatra, who has starred in a show a year for the past three years. "Good jazz may be on the way out. but it's going to hear from

SINATRA, one of America's top male vocalists for a quarter of a century, expressed firm convictions both about what to sing and how to sing it.

"I don't want to dazzle viewers with a lot of mumbo jumbo and stuff." he continued, explaining his preference for simplified television staging.

"I figure if they are watching me they are fans. If they are fans, then I know what they like in musical terms and I give it to them. "I don't try to convince thing since sliced bread. I just sing to them. They like it. and I like it."

ALTHO he feels that the era of cool jazz is passing. Sinatra believes that it will be replaced, eventually, by music similar to the swing period of the '30s.

He admits that rock and roll and the unintelligible lyrics of contemporary longhaired guitar thumpers have no place in the Sinatra "bag," but he's quick to point out that "if the kids like it, I think it's fine "

"Every generation has its own music," Sinatra said. "But, let's face it: I'm not the kid at the Paramount in New York with the bow tie anymore.
