sports scoop

THEY play the Bowl games in the winter, and practice spans the spring and summer, but college football is still known as "The Fall Sport" in citadels like Columbus, Ohio, and South Bend. With this seasoning in mind, ABC has provocatively dubbed its preseason look at the campus pigskin scene "The Autumn Affair." Presentation is scheduled for Thursday at 7 p.m. on Channel 7.

Not surprisingly, the undergraduate game is now under the torch of criticism. It seems some college stars have to take a pay cut when they "graduate" to pro football.

Suspicion is growing that more and more college celebrities are winning for the local car dealers or travel agents, instead of for the Gipper.

Even former Sec. of the Interior Stewart Udall is outraged by what he calls "monomaniac coaches and greedy superstars." Udall took time out from making Sears laundry commercials to attend a recent NCAA convention, where he assailed college football with: "I deplore a greedy, weighted system that obviously promotes dynasties."

Udall certainly was right on the money with that statement. As smile-guys Chris Schenkel and Bud Wilkinson will show you Thursday night, the same teams are going to do most of the winning this college season.

UNFORTUNATELY, the 1973 season looks like a down year for superstar neo-pros, with only a handful of big-name performers to light up the ABC cameras. The best quarterback in the college ranks is Stanford's Mike Boryla, and that's a long way down from Jim Plunkett, Terry Bradshaw or even John Huarte.

Probably the highlight of Thursday's show will be the appearance of ABC's new color commentator, Duffy Daugherty. Daugherty may be the funniest man in football, and his side-splitting stories will keep audiences roaring.

Now that Bill Russell is gone, Daugherty is the only TV chatterman left with any credibility. A victim of college football's win-or-perish attitude last year at Michigan State, Duff says, "There is no creeping professionalism on the campus; it's galloping."

It should be interesting to see how long it takes ABC to clamp down on Daugherty's candor.

This junkie has a fifty dollar a day habit.

He won't be born for 6 months. He weighs one thirtieth of an ounce and is less than an inch long. And he's as much of a junkie as someone who's 35 years old and shoots into the vein of his leg.

Tonight, Gerardo Rivera will take a close, hard look at the junkie population of New York that hasn't even been born yet. Last year alone, 1,500 mothers with a monkey on their back gave birth to babies with a monkey on theirs.

Sometimes, if the mother goes through withdrawal while she's pregnant, the baby never gets born. He goes through cold turkey, too. And in the process will simply kick himself to death.

The program is an Eyewitness News Special called "The Littlest Junkie." And it not only explores the problem with agonizing honesty.

But it sets forth what's being done; what should be done before it's too late. And what a pregnant mother can do if she's not only eating for two, but shooting for two.

So watch and see what the 70's have done to the miracle of childbirth.

Tonight at 6:00
