NEW YORK—No matter what you hear to the contrary, Rudy Vallee is definitely getting into TV in a big way. NBC is preparing a terrific buildup for the veteran crooner, and will launch him in a full-hour daytime variety show in September. . . . "Stars Over Hollywood" will switch from NBC to CBS in mid-July, and appear Friday p.m.s. . . . Lovely Nina Bara is credited with attracting parent interest to ABC's "Space Patrol" on Saturday nights. She's considered a dead ringer for actress Hedy Lamarr. . . . Longhair music fans get a break from NBC. The web will partly fill the Comedy Hour spot with "Recital Hall," a concert series. Baritone William Warfield tees off the series July 8. . . . Lee Bowman and "Ellery Queen" take a two month vacation, returning Sept. 6. . . . Dr. Fu Manchu fans better keep an eye on "Lights Out" July 16. The first TV version of Sax Rohmer's works will be shown.

One of the fastest climbs to video success is being staged by comic Steve Allen. Many viewers rate him way above Arthur Godfrey for rib-tickling ad libs. . . . "The Clock" series is replacing "We, The People" on NBC for nine weeks only. . . . Plans are shaping up for the fall return of "Comedy Hour." It's now reported that major stars who will appear are Dean Martin, Jerry Lewis, Eddie Cantor and Tony Martin. In addition, such guest luminaries as Beatrice Lillie and Milton Berle will show up from time to time. . . . Comic Garry Moore has discovered the favorite reducing method of English women—they play bridge and lose pounds. . . . John McQuade, who stars as "Charlie Wild, Private Detective," usually spends his vacations working on fishing boats. . . . Screen heart-throb Robert Preston, who's subbing for Ralph Bellamy in "Man Against Crime" until Aug. 3, is taking the role of Pat Barnett, Mike's brother. Pat & Mike? Hmmm.

Eileen Wilson, the Hit Parade thrush, is running a close race with Dorothy Collins of the same show for popularity laurels. Some critics break it down thusly—Dorothy is cuter but Eileen has a better singing voice. . . . Chet Roble, the ace pianist on "Studs' Place," is a principal exponent of the Barefoot Jazz school. . . . Susan Peters, star of "Miss Susan," defines happiness as "filling a child's stomach, a woman's wardrobe and a man's pocket." . . . Paul Winchell and Jerry Mahoney will be back Sept. 17 after a summer hiatus. . . . Hilarious Red Skelton makes his TV debut Sept. 30 with a comedy-variety stanza. Red's a native of Vincennes, Indiana. . . . NBC is so pleased with the latest Wayne King show ratings the web is planning a full east-midwest hookup.

Jack E. Leonard, the hefty comic on Broadway Open House, spins his own Panama hats as a trademark. . . . The Somerset Maugham Theatre will now be seen every week during the summer. . . . Ford is still unhappy with the James Melton show, and may shave its budget as a result. One added change will be the return of Dr. Roy Marshall to handle the commercials. . . . It's reported Lilli Palmer may exit the TV picture because of movie commitments. Is that progress? . . . One top TV star is just crazy about soldiers. They say she has a one-track mind, and there's a troop train on it.

A PANEL of literate members playing the televersion of Hang the Butcher could put a TV fan to sleep, but the combination is clicking on WGN-TV, not only in Chicago but in the hamlets and cities covered by the DuMont network.

Called "Down You Go," this newcomer has proved a sleeper with Professor Bergen Evans to blame. A stimulating wit, Evans and his team compete against phrases sent in by viewers in the hopes they'll stump the quartet and win $25. The fate of entries is decided by Carmelita Pope, Toni Gilman, Robert Breen and Francis Coughlin.

With a public fairly well fed up on quizzes, "Down You Go" panelists are converting fans, probably because of the welcome relief from artificial performers.

These thumbnail sketches will better acquaint you with members of the panel—

Billed on the panel of "Down You Go" as a radio writer, Fran Coughlin, WGN Continuity Director, is really a pioneer in radio.

Fran graduated from the University of Illinois in 1924, and joined the WGN staff in 1933 as a member of the continuity department. Since that time he has scripted shows of every type from music to history. He originated the format and wrote the first scripts for Kay Kyser's "College of Musical Knowledge" when it started on WGN, and has been associated with such Chicago and network productions as "America Loves a Melody," "The Human Adventure," and "The Chicago Theater of the Air."

In association with Henry Weber, WGN musical director, Coughlin wrote the first adaptations of opera in English for radio, presented by WGN in 1937, which were the fore-runners of the present "Chicago Theater of the Air" series.

Toni Gilman is a veteran of show business since the age of 10. Born in Chicago June 2, 1923, she attended St. Jerome's grade school, Cardinal Mundelein high school and college. On Christmas day in 1929, at the age of six, she appeared in the radio soap opera "Painted Dreams" on WGN, produced by her father, Harry K. Gilman.

DOWN YOU GO

Since then, she has appeared in many Broadway plays, her first being George Abbott's "Beat the Band" in which she played second lead. Toni retired from the stage after her lead in "Ten Little Indians" to join her husband, a physician, for his stretch in the Army medical corps, and to have a daughter, Susann Ann, now four and a half years old.

Toni came out of retirement to do her own TV show on WENR-TV.

Dr. Robert S. Breen is a native of Philadelphia, Pa. He was born there on September 30, 1909. He's a graduate of Northwestern university whose enthusiasm for directing college theatre groups landed him roles at Knox college in Galesburg and Lafayette in Easton, Pa. Between 1938 and 1941, he worked in professional theatres in New York, playing on Broadway with Jessica Tandy, Alexander Knox, Gladys George, Dean Jagger, Celeste Holm, Blanche Yurka, Tom Powers, etc. He's also danced with Michael Kidd, Valerie Bettis, and Felicia Sorel.

He married Gertrude Bader in 1935; they have two little girls. Dr. Breen is assistant professor at Northwestern in the school of speech.

Carmelita Pope, whose picture adorns our cover this week, is a native of Chicago. She is married to Charles Balenger, publicity director for Encyclopedia Britannica films, and is the mother of a little boy. A former radio and stage star, Miss Pope is now one of the feminine leads in "Down You Go."

A graduate of the Goodman Theatre in Chicago, Miss Pope also attended St. Patrick's Academy, Providence high school and Marycrest college in Davenport, Iowa. She has appeared in more than 90 movie shorts, commercials and newsreels. She was the star of RKO's "Citizen Saint" under the name of Carla Dare.

On stage, she was seen in the Broadway run of "A Streetcar Named Desire"; as Corliss Archer in the Chicago USO overseas production of "Kiss and Tell" and four seasons of summer stock at Lake Zurich, Southbury, Conn. Theatre on the Open Road.

In television she's appeared in "Peter Pan's Magic Slate," "Mr. Black," "They Stand Accused," "Let's Act It Out," "Crisis," and "Hawkin's Falls."

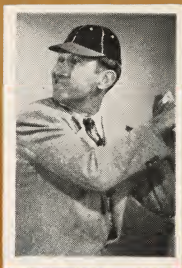

Moderator for this new and popular game is Dr. Bergen Evans who made his television debut on WENR-TV in a panel program called "Majority Rules." A professor at Northwestern university, Dr. Evans is a native of Franklin, Ohio, where he was born in 1904. A Rhodes scholar, Dr. Evans is also a graduate of Miami university and did graduate work at Harvard where he received his MA and Ph.D. A Phi Beta Kappa, he is a frequent contributor to national magazines and is a popular author, his most famous work being the "Natural History of Nonsense."

Who's Who reveals he married his wife in Sheffield, England, and has two children, Derek and Scott.

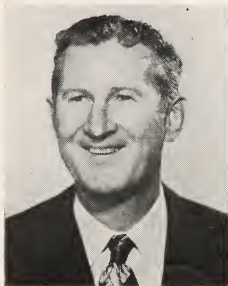

A "Down You Go" panelist would probably end this article this way:

the doodles weaver show

Winstead changed his name and started tearing up the joint TELEVISION seems to have launched, among other things, the greatest session of uninhibited mugging ever inflicted upon a hapless nation. First there was Uncle Miltie Berle with his idiotic, toothless gawking and lippping. Then Jerry Lewis started charging the cameras with a moronic, cross-eyed pout.

It comes as no surprise to viewers, therefore, when the third logical step in this facial evolution turns out to be a young man with india rubber features that would put the most harrowing Hallowe'en masks to shame. It's Doodles Weaver, the FACE.

He started out harmlessly enough as Winstead Sheffield Weaver, a California youth who attended Los Angeles high school, Irving school in Tarrytown, N.Y., and Stanford university in Palo Alto. Outside of winning a Phi Beta Kappa key, and varsity letters in football, basketball and soccer, Winstead Weaver cut no very great swath in American Life & Letters.

Then Winstead changed his name to Doodles (for dignity), and started tearing up the joint.

Every Saturday night at 9 p.m., the NBC camera does its level best to capture Doodles' dynamic didoes for 30 straight minutes, but the rest is up to the WNBQ viewers.

During the hot summer nights ahead, Doodles will bring to the Chicagoland audience fresh breezes and gales of laughter. Although he's gotten a so-so treatment from TV critics, Weaver should appeal to sweltering TV fans who won't have strength enough to absorb more than slapstick comedy throughout the heat waves.

After his college days, Doodles worked with Hal Roach in film comedies. Then followed comic roles in Broadway and west coast stage hits. During wartime, Doodles served four years with the USO, and later went into night club work. Among his nerve-shattering routines was his now-famous auto race, in which he acted as announcer, racing car and driver simultaneously.

Something was still lacking if Doodles was to reach the absolute heights of inanity—and Spike Jones provided it. Weaver spent several years with the "musical depreciation" group, creating such roles as Professor Fietelbaum of scratch sheet immortality.

Doodles was one of television's earliest performers, by virtue of appearing on an NBC commercial show way back in 1946. He collects used ice cubes, and is married to Lois Weaver, a beautiful blonde dancer. He says "she is apt to appear on the Doodles Weaver show," which apparently can be taken either as a threat or a promise.

Conscientious TV critics have taken great pains to point out, rather unfairly, that Doodles' brother is Sylvester "Pat" Weaver, a high-ranking NBC executive. More tolerant observers, however, are quick to comment that if Doodles is wacky, it's strictly on his own account.

The Doodles Weaver show is seen every Saturday night at 9 p.m. on WNBQ, and is sponsored by Honey and Almond Cream.

John Cameron Swayze, the NBC-TV news commentator, says that in order to be a live wire you sometimes need the right connections.

Dave Garroway tells of the two ghosts who were sitting around a campfire on a dark and dreary night, talking about things in general. Then they approached the subject about which all ghosts have different opinions.

"I say, old chap," wondered one, "do you really think there are such things as human beings?"

Letters to the Editor

All letters must be signed; names will be withheld, if requested.

The greatest kick I get all week is reading the letters to the editor section. . . . People are so odd!

FERN DAWN DERLIGHTER

We recently enjoyed immensely a Summer Theater film called "Paganini." The violin selections were superb, the tone was beautiful and the great numbers were masterly played. . . . All expressed the hope of hearing and seeing this film again.

Park Ridge, Ill.

EDWARD J. DAHLIN

TV viewers—attention! This has got to stop. Monday evening was the last straw. I saw Buster Crabbe as Flash Gordon on 4; Buster Crabbe as Billy Carson on 5; and Buster Crabbe as Billy the Kid on 9—all at once! I like Buster Crabbe myself, but after all, I'd much rather see him in swimming trunks than on a horse or in a rocket ship to the moon.

Chicago, Ill.

MISS S. R. BRUNNER

Attn: Mr. McCarthy: How can you get away with talking about your mother-in-law the way you do? If I did that about mine, she'd leave me!

Chicago, Ill.

E. DOLENAK

Ed. Note: To which McCarthy replied: Is that bad?

"Meet the Press" has always been our favorite program but several days ago we witnessed one of the most disgusting exhibitions of rudeness that has ever appeared on television. I refer to the guest appearance of that McCarthy person. He talked over the moderator, constantly interrupted everybody, and used the program as a sounding board for his specialty of assassination of character. I think the owners of the program were at fault for asking him in the first place.

Winnetka, Ill.

H. R. AYRES

Why don't one of the stations show Blondie's older pictures, or one of Lassie's old films? My children would love them, and so will others.

Is the Chorus Union Taking Over?

By JACK MABLEY

"TV is okay, but you only get to see the show once."

Reflections on a TV Tube

Have you noticed lately how many shows are being loused up by choral groups?

They don't sing anything intelligible. It's mostly ooooouuuh's and ahhhhh's and if you see them they all have their arms raised over their heads. Garroway-at-Large went completely and revoltingly New York when Louis Armstrong was on recently. Not content with the greatest trumpet player in the world, they had to hire a chorus to sing oh's and ah's and flap their arms at Louis.

The same thing happened on a Robert Montgomery mystery, and seems to be the kickoff now on the Westinghouse Summer Theater. The chorus union must have gotten itself a red hot agent.

Another question. Do you have a feeling during some of these live dramatic shows that you have seen them before? I know they must be repeating some of their plays. On a recent Monday three shows in a row—Cameo Theater, Robert Montgomery, and Westinghouse—all had plots which seemed familiar. Cameo's was about a woman who wrote a special delivery letter involving her husband in a murder, and of her frantic efforts to retrieve it when she made up with her husband.

Montgomery's was about a man who planted a time bomb in the basement of his home to kill his wife, and then was tied up near the bomb by burglars. He lost his mind waiting for the bomb to go off. I'm positive they did that one before. Westinghouse's was about an auto mechanic who longed to be a big league pitcher, and I'm sure I saw that before,

I think on Westinghouse Studio One.

They do seem to be running out of material in the dramatic shows as well as in the comic department. There isn't any real kick about them repeating if they would say they are repeating, and not try to palm off the show as a new play or adaptation.

Here are a few nominations for Chub McCarthy's growing list of things we could do without in television:

Milton Berle without pants; Dagmar without Jerry Lester; Who Ya Laffin' At; the New York Yankees; spotlights in New York shows; "Second Chorus;" wraparound bumpers; kinescopes; Sunday morning programs; Howdy Doody.

Nelson Olmstead used to have one of the finest programs on radio. It was simplicity itself—all he did was read stories. The great fascination of his show was his selection of the right stories, and his remarkable reading ability.

NBC may have a counterpart for television in a new show scheduled to start July 5 as the summer replacement for Wayne King. Robert Breen, of Northwestern university, will be narrator for a dramatic program. Normally in adapting stories for TV, you use only the dialogue, and thus lose the countless paragraphs the author uses to provide descriptions, ideas, and explanations of the dialogue.

Breen will save all this in his narration. Actors will handle the dialogue. It sounds like a fine idea, and if NBC puts its usual polish on the production, we may have another big feather in the cap of Chicago television.

Chester the Pup— A Personality Pooch!

by UNCLE HERBIE

"Boy, what a business this television! A poor pooch works like a dog all week and for what, a scanty fifteen minutes in front of a camera. And these studios. Sure, fine place . . . big, plush all over. So where do they put me? In a little beat up corner, with nothing but an old drawing board for props, and under lights that are hot I have to sweat. Am I cut up? I look like I had just taken an excursion through an electric fan."

And that's "Chester the Pup" talking, ABC-TV's personality pooch with the wide grin and spotted ear who each Sunday keeps his audience in stitches with his wisecracks about himself, his master, Drizzlepuss, and the rest of the regular folks he introduces into his humorous stories each week.

There's Clara, Drizzlepuss' wife, Old Man Murphy, Fiddlefoot the Cop and a variety of others. And they're all products of George O'Halloran, creator of Chester, a former specialty grocery salesman in Milwaukee who once wrote a story for a writing class in evening school, had the thing picked up by the Milwaukee Journal, and developed into a daily column.

The stories were an immediate success. A rapid chain of events led Chester through the public's eye as a national syndicated newspaper feature, then as a local TV personality on WTMJ-TV in Milwaukee, and for the last six months as star on ABC-TV's national television hookup.

O'Halloran gets his humorous story lines on Chester by talking and listening to people on busses, street cars and trains. The humorous characters used on "Chester the Pup" are usually based on real life people that George knows in Milwaukee. Old Man Murphy, for example, is patterned after an acquaintance, ". . . a real chowder-head," George confides.

Ideas on the police and fire department which George uses so frequently in his stories are usually submitted to O'Halloran by Milwaukee's fire and police personnel. They get as much amusement and satisfaction from laughing at Chester and his associates as any of ABC's televiewers.

The credit for Chester's funny voice goes to Art Whitfield, another Milwaukee lad who talks for Chester in a jargon of slang, similes and metaphors that provide the basic kick to the show. The cartoons, drawn by Sid Stone, naturally provide the visual element of humor that complements the dialogue.

Sid first met O'Halloran at an ice cream social given by the Lithuanian Uplift Society—of all places—an international cartel of garment manufacturers. Sid enjoyed the stories about Chester so much that he induced O'Halloran to let him illustrate the newspaper columns.

A successful commercial artist in Milwaukee before meeting O'Halloran, Sid admits that TV cartooning is no simple matter. Sid's sketches must be fast and they must be coordinated with George's copy lines in order to bring life to the characters Chester is talking about. So when Chester's voice says, ". . . my nose lit up like an electric bulb," Sid gets it lit, right on the nose.

This week's contest: For the best drawing of Chester the Pup, Uncle Herbie will award $1. Second prize 50 cents; third and fourth prizes 25 cents each. Write: Uncle Herbie, % TV Forecast, 185 N. Wabash, Chicago 1.

forecast for women

ARE you tired of yourself? Do you want to do something about it? Don't know where to start?

The answer to all these questions can be found in the recently published book "Individually Yours" written by Celeste Carlyle, seen weekly on WGN-TV. It is an invitation to every woman to analyze her own personal beauty, then create a style that is "individually yours."

Miss Carlyle points out the way to new charm and beauty through the application of several simple formulas, each stressing the importance of determining your own individual type. Her book is illustrated with charts and line drawings; you will find tips on make-up, fashions, exercise and personality. An inspiration to create a new "you."

Miss Carlyle has had wide experience as a beauty and fashion consultant. Born at Charles City, Ia., she studied art in Chicago and in Europe before taking up work in beauty culture, cosmetics and dress design.

"Individually Yours" is published by J. P. Lippincott company and retails at $2.95.

Betty Whitney

Ever wonder what hobbies the various TV performers pursue in their off-camera hours? Betty Whitney, seen Monday through Friday on "Fun and Features" and "Tel-A-Shopper" via WBKB, this week tells of her fascinating hobby of raising tropical fish—and suggests it as a pastime for children or adults living in small quarters that prohibit other pets.

Miss Whitney originally joined "Fun and Features" for three weeks and has been there over a year! She has degrees in home economics from State Teachers college, Framingham, Mass. and the University of Michigan.

The graceful, leisurely swimming Angel fish are pictured.

TROPICAL FISH A

EVERY youngster wants a dog but in many city homes this is impossible because of housing restrictions or lack of space. The raising of tropical fish is an ideal hobby under these circumstances or, for that matter, nonetheless fascinating even if you can also have a dog.

I don't expect that the youngster who asks for a dog will be immediately taken with the idea of owning fish instead. A visit to the tropical fish section of the Shedd Aquarium, however, plus the reading of an inexpensive manual which you can purchase there will do much to win his interest. But you'd better watch out or you, too, will succumb to the fascinations of this hobby and then it will be nip and tuck between you and your youngster as to which of you is more interested.

There are many advantages to tropical fish as pets—they make no noise, need little attention, can be left for as long as a week without harm, and an aquarium of graceful plants and colorful fish adds much to the decor of any room. Just to sit and watch an aquarium of fish is most relaxing and surprisingly interesting as each kind of fish has its own personality and tricks. The Zebra fish dart from one end of the tank to the other in fast-moving schools; the Betta preens his gorgeous fins as he catches sight of his reflection; the Angels swim gracefully, leisurely; the Kissing Gouramies embrace for minutes at a time, and hundreds of other varieties all have special qualities.

The Guppies, however, are the best fish with which to start as they are hardy and inexpensive. No two male Guppies are exactly alike in color and markings; you can spend many pleasant hours proving this to be true. Once you have a tankful of Guppies, chances are it won't be long before you're a dyed-in-the-wool aquarist and ready to add other varieties to your tank.

Choose as large an aquarium as you can accommodate; preferably not smaller than 10 gallons. A rectangular tank is best as this gives the largest air surface and there must be an ample supply of oxygen in the water so the fish will thrive. Not only is the oxygen content of the water dependent upon the air surface of the tank but also upon the plants growing in the aquarium. As the plants grow they give off oxygen which dissolves in the water for the fish to breathe. Two plants which are excellent oxygenators are Vallisneria and Sagittaria and should be included in your tank along with any other aquatic plants you may select for beauty and variety.

Not only do the growing plants furnish oxygen for the fish but they also help keep the aquarium in balance so that the water remains clear and fresh and does not need to be changed more than once a year. To thrive, the plants must have plenty of light so place your tank near a window where it will get at least two or three hours of direct sunlight daily or light the tank artificially. A fluorescent bulb in a reflector forming a cover to the aquarium gives sufficient light and does not overheat the water in summer. Too much sunlight or artificial light will encourage the growth of algae which form a green coating over the sides of the tank but with a little experience it is easy to judge the amount of light needed to have the plants prosper without having excess algae form.

In the late fall and winter you will need a thermostat and heater to keep the water temperature at 72°. The tables are turned in the late spring and summer when the problem is to keep the water cool. There are pumps which cool the water by aerating it but these are not necessary if you do not overcrowd the fish. When the water gets warmer it holds less oxygen so can support fewer fish. A good rule to follow winter and summer is one quart of water per inch of fish.

Before you set up fish-housekeeping, purchase a tropical fish manual either at Shedd Aquarium or at your pet shop and study it carefully. Raising tropical fish is not difficult but there are rules that must be followed carefully. They add zest to the hobby.

These are Kissing Gouramies which often embrace for minutes at a time.

Betta fish are vain creatures, preening their fins when they catch their reflections.

YOUNG HOMEMAKERS TODAY

by BETTY BETZ

ARE today's teen-agers home bodies? Contrary to what many adults might think about the so-called "care-free youth," girls under twenty DO care about homemaking, and they believe in getting plenty of groundwork for those happy days ahead. In a recent survey over fifty per cent of the high school girls interviewed actually enjoyed helping with the family meals, and well over three quarters of them loved baking pies, cakes, and cookies . . . "just for fun."

The Pressure Cooker Institute relayed the astonishing news that the most successful way of getting housewives to use the time saving pressure cooker was to slant their advertising, educational films, and promotions for high school home economics classes. The girls in turn went home and did the selling job on pressure cookers.

The mature teen-agers today have instituted the idea of thrashing out their problems in a family circle, have proved their sound judgment to the extent that many parents give them say-so about plans for menus, home decoration, and in some cases, just how the family budget should be spent. Baby sitting is no longer a bore and a chore to the girl who learns as she keeps an eye on junior. She hopes to be a mother herself some day and any experience with the nursery set is invaluable to her.

The bewildered bride who coyly admits she can't even make a pot of coffee is no longer cute to her husband or anyone else. In fact before a fella gets tied down today, most likely his finances will go through a road test consisting of cooking a few meals, going through the paces of playing with the neighbors' kids, and proving just what a thrifty little hausfrau she will be for a fella who's well aware of living costs as well as higher income taxes.

Television has created a new interest in home making and has kept the young housewife informed by such glamorous home makers of the coaxial cable as Kathi Norris and Betty Furness. Also TV has inspired a whole new field open to the young career-minded home makers. The future of our nation depends upon the moral fibre of the American home and family . . . and, fortunately, our bright young American teen-agers are aware of it!

Betty Betz, a former Chicagoan and teen columnist for the Herald-American newspaper, is a forthright and charming young lady who writes, telecasts and believes in the doctrine of good-natured and friendly behavior for those of adolescent age. A graduate of Sarah Lawrence college, she worked for top fashion magazines before turning her attention to teen problems.

Betty, who was seen this spring on the ABC network, has a new TV show.

Station Breaks — By MIKE BOOM

CHICAGO!—There's a revolt brewing among local TV stars and the net result may be a full-fledged "Chicago First" movement. The big gripe is against stations, columnists and agencies who consistently ignore the flourishing talent in this area. Choice TV assignments and publicity invariably go to out-of-towners. The stars say that outfits which should be concerned are too interested in fancy speeches and roast beef specials at their meetings. As a result, New York and Los Angeles are loaded with ex-Chicagoans who had to leave their own town to achieve success.

Frank Sweeney, the affable WGN-TV announcer, was a naval officer in World War II. He directed radar fighters. Frank broke into radio as a sports gabber with a Davenport station. . . . Quiz

SWEENEY

OFF GUARD

Overweight damsels who thump and quiver daily with WGN-TV's "Your Figure, Ladies" now have first hand evidence that channel 9 exercise fiends practice what they preach. Here's Harold Turner, organist on that show, returning home with groceries.

Note the large quantity of greens (celery, radishes and lettuce) protruding from the bag. Nowhere in sight are tasty (but fattening) pastries and sweetmeats.

Kid Freddie Solomon is the youngest student ever enrolled at the U. of Chicago. He's 14. . . . Beauteous Kay Westfall & hubby have topped their fifth wedding anniversary. . . . Recent "Parade" winner is John G. Johnson, of 925 E. 44th st., a promising young baritone.

Chet Roble, whose "Go Sox" ballad has helped spark the Comiskey bunch, is banging the keys at Sig Sakowicz' Rocket Club. . . . Videodex survey reports on Chicagoland's top ten favorites —1. Texaco Star Theatre 2. Comedy Hour 3. Talent Scouts 4. What's My Line 5. Godfrey & Friends 6. Philco Playhouse 7. Wayne King Show 8. Fireside Theatre 9. Your Hit Parade 10. Martin Kane. . . . Nick Francis, the amusing Super Circus clown, used to be a daredevil circuit driver.

Nancy Wright may become one of Our Town's top dramatic actresses. Lovely Nancy did so well in a character role on "Stud's Place" that repeats are in order.

Sterling "Red"

Quinlan, WBKB's brilliant program director, is working on a novel about Captain Bill Eddy, the famed ex-chief of the channel 4 station. . . . WENR-TV's

WRIGHT

Bob Murphy & wife are heading for Colorado in August. Their son Dennis is at summer camp there. . . . Don McNeill, the Man Who Came To Breakfast, will go fishing in Canada. . . . Ed Leahy, carrot-topped floor director at WBKB, is a look-alike for Arthur Godfrey. . . . George Menard, the Fun & Features star, tells about the gangster's son who followed in his daddy's fingerprints. . . . Win "Laif" Stracke really loves that guitar. He toted it through 42 months of World War II in an ack ack battalion.

The Headline Club recently picked a winner when it inducted Jim Hanlon, the able press chief of WGN-TV. Hustling Jim is one good reason why independent channel 9 can compete successfully against network stations.

BREEZY'S VACATION ALBUM

Dear Folks:

We had a wonderful time on our vacation, and brought you some snapshots to prove it. Now that all of us in the "Breezy, Don & Vera" gang are back on WBKB everyday at 4:15 p.m., these pictures taken by Captain Crusty and myself can remind us of the summer fun. See you on TV.

Aromatically yours,
Breezy

Q and A BY TOPPER

Questions from TV Fans

Q—I would like to know if the Hit Parade is a film? If not, how can they change the scenery so fast?

Chicago, Ill. BILL HANSEN

A—No. Large TV studios enable two or three backgrounds to be set up simultaneously.

Q—My husband and I have been wondering why we no longer find Paula Wray on TV. We admired her work so much on Top Tunes With Trendler and By Candlelight, both WGN-TV shows.

Chicago, Ill. MRS. L. HASS

A—Paula Wray is no longer under contract to WGN-TV. She is a free lance television artist.

Q—Could you enlighten us on the where-abouts of Mugs Richardson since she left the Godfrey show?

Woodstock, Ill. LUCILE GOLBE

A—Miss Richardson has left TV. No information is available.

The Last Word

DEAR BOSS:

I don't know if you're lucky enough to have a green thumb, but your favorite critic doesn't, so it is a bit irritating to watch a guy like John Ott on "How Does Your Garden Grow?" Whatever the guy touches it grows. Even after taking his advice (and probably doing it wrong) I'm getting nothing but the usual crop of weeds.

Ott is a fabulous character; a Walt Durbahn of the soil. In addition to knowing most everything about plants, he's an expert at time-lapse photography, and his films on TV are worth your time.

One of our town's newest TV editors recently complained that the Ted Mack Family Hour is very "un-Sunday afternoonish", that the "brassy arrangements" are not in keeping with a typical family relaxing at home. Well, kid, I got news for you. What makes anyone think, even a new TV editor, that Sunday afternoons are typically quiet? That Sunday afternoons are ideal for relaxing?

Unless the McCarthy household is an exception, it differs little from the original cast of "You Can't Take It With You." While I'm watching television, the wife is practicing playing the saw—hopes to get on Ted's amateur show. My blessed mother-in-law is out in the yard shooting at tin cans with her '45, and the kids are playing an old trumpet they found in someone's ashcan. A little brass on the Mack show is almost relief on a Sunday afternoon, so please, Ted, don't change it!

Won't you miss Dave Garroway doing those Congoleum-Nairn commercials? Just can't picture Kate Smith putting up Congowall—

How does a Quiz Kid act when she grows up? The answer is in Vanessa Brown, now seen frequently on "Leave It to the Girls."

CHUB MCCARTHY

FREE!—TV Interviews with Creighton, baseball ducats

BASEBALL fans, here's your opportunity to see your favorite team in action from reserved box seats and to appear on television as guests of TV Forecast magazine. Enjoy a leisurely afternoon at Wrigley Field or Comiskey Park and be interviewed on WGN-TV by sportscaster Harry Creighton . . . This new, exciting contest is open to youngsters and adults alike. Every day, TV Forecast will award 4 reserved box seats for Cubs and Sox baseball games.

YOUNGSTERS WIN: Two reserved box seats for a Cubs or Sox baseball game plus an autographed baseball. The baseball will be awarded the "Lead-Off Man," show on WGN-TV, sponsored by Nelson Brothers at 1:10 p.m. from the ball park.

ADULTS WIN: Two reserved box seats for a Cubs or Sox home game. Winners to be interviewed after the game by Harry Creighton on "The Tenth Inning" and "The Extra Inning" television shows sponsored by Walgreen's drug stores and the United Airlines.

FOLLOW THESE RULES: Write a brief letter explaining "Why I'd prefer to see a baseball game in person rather than on television. . . ." Mail entries to: Sports Editor, TV Forecast magazine, 185 North Wabash, Chicago 1, Ill.—Deadline this week: Wednesday, July 11.

Contestants are urged to enclose their telephone numbers and youngsters are requested to name the player whose autograph they prefer on their baseball.

KIDS of high school age appearing on Linn Burton's WBKB "Knot Hole-Gang" show prior to all Cub games are at a distinct disadvantage. Because of the Illinois High School Association's ruling against gifts of over two dollars, they must either return the gloves, baseballs and bats received on the show or give them to their favorite charity. Purpose of the ruling is two-fold. First, to discourage professionalism and secondly, to thwart any form of bribery.

Mr. Al Willis, secretary of the I.H.S.A., cited some solid reasons for the ruling: "Recently during one of our basketball tournaments, one enthusiastic business man offered each one of the kids a brand new Ford if they won the state championship. Others were given wrist watches, just to mention a few instances. That can be dangerous to high school sports," said Willis.

Burton's reaction was similar: "It's a good rule that has both advantages and disadvantages. The kids can go berserk if these gifts get out of hand. But just gloves and bats wouldn't undermine anyone's morals. The New York Association made a special concession for the show over there. Perhaps it can also be done in Chicago," said Linn.

Cuffnotes: Jack Quinlan (husband of NBC-TV star Roberta Quinlan) loves golf and plays regularly at Meadowbrook and Deep Dale in New York. He has played every course in England, once hitting the green for 47 consecutive days over there. . . . Jim Holmes, WBKB director, is a former minor league baseball player. . . . Walt Byers, Director of the Big Ten's Service Bureau, was disturbed by the continual misinterpretation of the NCAA's policy on live television, and has prepared an exclusive for TV Forecast to clarify the NCAA television moratorium.

An Open Letter to Wrestling Fans

RAY FABIANI

Internationally known promoter

Dear Fan:

I read with interest and much amusement Fred Kohler's comments in a recent TV Forecast article regarding the possibility of a match between Silverstein and Thesz for the heavyweight wrestling championship.

Kohler's lukewarm excuses for Thesz in evading the issue indicates his limited knowledge of the wrestling picture in spite of his lengthy experience as a promoter . . . Kohler knows that Thesz was selected as champion by a group of promoters at an impromptu gathering. They felt a titleholder should be originated for gate appeal purposes.

Over the years, Athletic Commissions have recognized wrestling as a contest. Since the advent of showmanship, the commissions for some unexplainable reason ruled that wrestling today is not a contest but an exhibition. It is unfortunate and we hope to rectify this as soon as possible.

Mr. Kohler's refusal to consider an offer to have Ruffy Silverstein engage his synthetic champion, Lou Thesz, in a match to create a truly competitive champion is unfair to the thousands of wrestling fans thru-out the nation. This is his chance to discontinue the practice of misrepresenting Lou Thesz as heavyweight champion when he has no more claim to the title than this writer.

Leonard Schwartz and myself have posted $5,000 with the publishers of TV Forecast Magazine in behalf of Ruffy Silverstein to meet Lou Thesz in a bona fide match to produce a true wrestling champion who can be accepted by fans same as they accept champions in all other sports. The site of the match is secondary. TV Forecast and the Illinois Athletic Commission can determine that. The proceeds can be given to some worthy charity.

We're ready to go ahead with the match. It's up to Mr. Kohler to keep the faith of the fans who have supported the wrestling game for all these years. The question is whether Kohler has the courage to pitch his best, namely Thesz, against our Ruffy Silverstein.

Sincerely yours
Ray Fabiani

Does Thesz Fear Silverstein?

Joking with Bob Hope during a California visit, Lou Thesz (right) was not available for comment on his disputed title. Pressure is currently being exerted on his Chicago promoter, Fred Kohler, to match Thesz against Ruffy Silverstein in a competitive title match to help restore wrestling as a contest.
