Names will be withheld if requested.

... Let me suggest that Chicagoans get a chance to see their favorite local TV stars right in the studio audience. Think what large audiences like that great sportscaster Tom Duggan or Wed Howard, Dorsey Connors or Clifton Utley would get. And how about that wonderful guy Herbie Mintz. Here's a way to really boost Chicago TV. ...

Chicago, Ill. JIMMY KILROY

I'm sick and tired of everyone calling the kids on "Juvenile Jury" spoiled brats. They ought to listen to the bright-eyed children on "Live Like a Millionaire." Whew!

Chicago, Ill. SUE GRENNAN

... I write for the fans that are similar to myself and husband. I like "Strike It Rich." When I viewed this program I realized my fate wasn't the worst of all. Which gives a person faith to go on and live a peaceful life which is all humanity's goal. ...

Chicago, Ill. FRANCIS LEWIS

Heavens, why didn't I think of it last year. Enclosed find a check for four subscriptions to TV Forecast. It will ease the burden of my Christmas shopping and I know my friends will enjoy it as much as I have the entire year around.

Chicago, Ill. MRS. KEITH ASHLEY

Ed. Note: All things considered, you've got a fine idea.

... I don't care what Jack Mabley says. Garfield Goose will never take the place of Howdy Doody. ...

Gary, Ind. JUDY KOCEVAR

Ed. Note: Maybe he can take the place of Jack Mabley.

Definitely let's put Paul Fogarty back on TV. He was an inspiration to us gals with his "Your Figure, Ladies." ...

Mundelein, Ill. MRS. RUBY BOREHAM

Ed. Note: Not to say perspiration.

A pat on the back to WNBQ for the presentation of the Ding Dong School. Thank goodness one TV station realizes our children are intelligent enough to appreciate something besides shootin', screamin', and other idiotic mannerisms so common to children's programs.

Kouts, Ind. VIOLETTE MARTIN

Ed. Note: Ding Dong is so good it'll be seen coast-to-coast starting Nov. 24.

by THOMAS O'MALLEY

SOME wise old philosopher, who must have known his alcohol and his women, once said that there are two things a man cannot hide: that he is drunk and that he is in love.

If this could be construed as a valid conclusion, then Frank Parker and Marion Marlowe are in love with each other. If it isn't true, then tenor Parker and soprano Marlowe should be presented with a television "Oscar" for a couple of singularly convincing performances given every Wednesday night.

For well over a year, that amazing slice of humanity known as the Arthur Godfrey fandom has been buzzing that an idyllic backstage romance has been taking place before their very eyes. As with any romantic pairing involving two bright show people like Frank and Marion, the affair has fallen into the public domain. For a confirmed Godfreyite, the issue whether these two are in love with each other is a few degrees more burning than death and taxes.

There is apparently enough evidence to satisfy the viewers that a torrid affair between Godfrey's songbirds exists. Compare the usual mechanical efforts of other singing duets on TV, they point out. Who else on TV can warble the words to "Why Do I Love You?"—and look like they mean it? Nobody!, the Parker-Marlowe fandom choruses. But nobody.

Although their warm duets are cheered by most, some thin-skinned viewers go into mild wincing spasms when the devotion gets too deep. While singing to each other, Marion and Frank play a game that might be called "nubby-nose"—a sort of eskimo kiss that never quite makes it. The trick is to crinkle up the nose, gaze smilingly into one another's eyes and almost touch the other's nose. Beautiful as this gesture appears, a few hard hearts can't reconcile it with grown up love. Such vocal lovey-dovey the world hasn't seen since Alice Faye quit the movies.

Other dissenters feel that Marion and Frank's snuggling only tends to distract from the song itself. This is a plaint voiced by those who can never remember what tune the duet has sung one minute after the applause dies down. Happily engrossed in the sidelight love overtures, these viewers are the ones who seem surest that therein lurks a romance.

In the age category—to borrow an ad man's cliché—it's Parker two-to-one. But the discrepancy in years (49 to 23) has not dulled the viewers' enthusiasm for romantic linking. Arithmetic is a bore anyway, when love is involved. While all the beauty of the team is Miss Marlowe's, Frank surely has the edge on experience. At the time when Marion's worries were little more than keeping school ruffians from dunking her long locks into inkwells, middle-aged Frank's biggest concern was centered around two dwindling assets—his career and his youthful hair line.

The "romance" has been welcome fodder for the fan books, who eagerly bill it as a match made in heaven. Wrote Philadelphia's TV Digest, a Forecast affiliate, solemnly: "All we can say is that if Frank isn't in love with Marion, we can't imagine why not. They're two mighty attractive people."

In a by-lined story by Parker in N.Y.'s TV Guide, another Forecast affiliate, Frank 'said' in saccharine tones, "If I were to go forth to look for a better singing sweetheart, where could I find one? She has talent, looks—isn't she beautiful?—and poise. She is considerate and kind . . . always asking any elevator operator how her mother is feeling. . . . When she drinks it's tea without sugar and lemon, the way Arthur has it."

Godfrey Loves

A Romance

King Arthur presides over this fanciful (or trumped-up or alleged or beautiful or unseemly or what-have-you) romance in his typical disarming Huck Finn fashion. The cooing and cuddling that accompany Frank and Marion's duets is not commented on by Arthur, even though the ol' Redhead has been known to discuss such subjects in front of a mike to a few million scattered individuals. Godfrey's role is that of a silent Cupid, reveling in the commotion caused by the on-camera doings of his two carolers.

There's little doubt that both Frank and Marion have Arthur's blessing. It's all part of the pattern. Something about the world loving a lover.

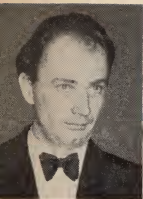

A few months ago, the gossip mongers were going slow on whispering l'affaire d'amour between a married woman and her singing partner. Since that time, Marion has received a divorce from her first husband and the way is clear for the boys with imaginative minds to hop on their rumor bicycles and spread the word of backstage love.

From out New York way, neither the Marlowe camp nor the Parker camp has mimeographed any denials for the interested press. In the meantime, there has been no visible effort by either headliner to silence the gossip mill. They coo, cuddle and play "nubby-nose" with the same old fervor. They embrace each other with no less enthusiasm than before. They still give the impression there is something more to singing beautifully than just drawing a pay check.

And somehow, the idea they ain't foolin' is coming through loud and clear—at least for most of the folks back home.

"Godfrey and His Friends" is seen Wednesdays at 7:00 p.m., channel 4.

KUBELIK

Music IN A TEMPEST

CONSIDER the plight of the serious musician. He spends his formative years sawing away on a violin or running scales on a piano while the other lads are out slinging a football or a baseball around. Then when he grows up he finds that most people aren't the least bit interested in hearing him play. Usually the protest goes something like this, "I just can't understand that high-brow stuff. Give me a dandy tune like 'Botcha-Me.'"

As a result, the classical music boys have had to resort to various devices to get people to listen. One of their best stunts for wooing an audience into facing the music is to disguise the music as something else. Thus was the "pops" concert born. This device brings people around who otherwise would get their kicks via the Hit Parade.

TV, which has certainly suffered from no surplus of classical music, has come up with the "pops" concert solution. Every Wednesday night, the Chicago Symphony Orchestra plays the authentic great stuff and by putting a "pops" tag on it, comes up with a few stragglers from the Tin Pan Alley crowd to supplement the regular longhair viewers.

The conducting chores on the show are handled by the Symphony's regular leaders, Rafael Kubelik and his assistant George Schick. Schick has been in charge of most of the telecasts so far and there are those who say that his talents are as abundant as those of Kubelik, the boss.

Kubelik, a product of pre-communist Czechoslovakia, has been something of a storm center since his arrival in Chicago music circles a few years back. Subtle musical shadings and proper tempos are matters sometimes overlooked by Rafael according to some of the local critics. This is surprising because Kubelik's importation to Chicago was greeted with much fanfare. His press clippings proclaimed him as one of Europe's finest conductors.

Harshest with Kubelik is the Chicago Tribune's Claudia Cassidy, most influential critic of the Arts in Chicago. Claudia has been hounding Kubelik since his arrival in town. She calls him

"an inferior conductor who builds incredible programs." Since Miss Claudia has been campaigning for Kubelik's ouster, this criticism may be a form of sour grapes. She has asked the Trustees of the Orchestra to hire Wilhelm Furtwangler, the great German conductor, and she's found Kubelik to be a pale substitute. Sun-Times critic Felix Borowski, one of the nation's most respected, finds shortcomings in Kubelik's work, yet on the whole is favorable to the Czech's music making. And because he's a composer himself, insiders will tell you that Borowski knows a great deal more about music than Cassidy.

These intramural squabbles affect the average listener practically not at all. The music played on "Pops" concert is the genuine great music, time tested, played by a first rate orchestra. To all but the sharpest tuned ear, the only difference between a Kubelik and Toscanini is about 50 years.

The Chicago Symphony has been on a campaign to familiarize local high school students with classical music by playing concerts at the various schools. As an added boost to civic pride, the top students from Chicago's six leading music schools are getting a chance to play their first concert with a professional orchestra on the "Pops" TV show. By encouraging the local talent, Chicago can become the spawning ground for the future Heifetzes and Horowitzes.

For the uninitiated, the concerts are not nearly as forbidding as they sound. A happy balance is struck by including a couple of movements from a Brahms symphony and then putting the orchestra through the seductive paces of a beery Strauss waltz. Which should keep everybody happy.

The Chicago Symphony Pops is seen at 8:30 p.m. on channel 9 Wednesdays.

Hollywood's luscious Liz (Taylor) had better watch her popularity ratings. Her latest competition is newcomer . . .

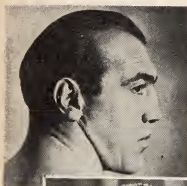

Rita Gam who is as deft with the peek-a-baa glance as either Liz or Ava Gardner. After her TV baptism, Rita was summoned to Hollywood where she's currently igniting film-land's celluloid.

Their voices are different, but their faces could have been fashioned from the same mold. June Valli warbles for Hit Parade extravaganzas while . . .

DOUBLE

Celebrities Must

Prima Carnera, former heavy-weight champion turned wrestler, bears the same "Great Stone Face" as his TV double . . .

TWO of the most overworked lines in the English language are "My, but you look exactly like—" and/or "Haven't I met you somewhere before?"

Both approaches have their roots in a popular folk tale which claims that every individual has a double somewhere else in the world.

For offshoots of the entertainment plant, the look-alike tag is nothing new. Almost everyone has an Aunt Minnie Ed Sullivan of "Toast Of The Town." Even their footwork is similar. Carnera dances around the ring while Sullivan, less fleet-of-foot, leads TV cameramen a merry chase on stage.

Think these look alike? Nature had a hand in this resemblance. Zsa Zsa (above) and . . .

Eva are the publicity conscious Gabor sisters of movie & TV fame.

Her pixie-like twin, Maureen Cannan, chirps commercials. Maureen, a former Chicaguan, was part of the Paul Whiteman TV entourage before it faded.

The "El Diablo" beard is a trademark of distinction for WBKB's overstuffed cut-up, Vic Perry. But even without it, he'd resemble his twin . . .

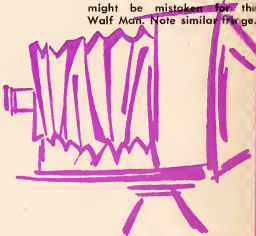

Grizzled Man Mountain Dean, who looks like a cave-man, is considered a wrestler and might be mistaken for the Wolf Man. Note similar fringe.

-TAKES

Come In Pairs

and an Uncle Horace who look "just like" Sophie Tucker and Eddie Cantor.

The surprise element comes when you discover a celebrity's double who is also a celebrity. But there are many. Merely by overstepping the boundary lines between sports, movies and TV, we discovered these pairs of theatrical twins. Coincidence or one of nature's tricks?

This might indicate a trend. First Perry & Dean, then Sullivan & Carnera. Now the two-ton Tony-twins. Chicago's Tony Weitzel and . . .

Tony Galenta, fleshy heavyweight baxter, could be twins. Another case of brains & brawn looking alike.

Even Aly might have a few doubts about identifying his glamorous wife, Rita Hayworth, if she were placed next to her mask-like double . . .

Mary Castle, a TV star and screen newcomer. Fooled? Tempestuous Rita is on the right.

ABE BURROWS

THE upcoming "Life with Father & Mother" series, skedded by CBS for a January opener, is being handled on a top-grade level. Signed for the leads are Dennis King and Martha Scott, with Ezra (ex-Henry Aldrich) Stone directing, and authors Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse as consultants and scriptwriters. . . . Abe Burrows, the perennial TV panelist, has undergone a personality change as a result of his recent hearings before the Red-hunting committees. Abe, who admitted being foolish in consorting with Commies, played this program straight, with none of his usual bare-faced quips. Now he's getting the silent treatment from some of his old cronies. . . . "Ding Dong School," Dr. Frances Horwich's creative wonder for pre-school age kids, has zoomed into a network production, five days a week on NBC. . . . "Foreign Intrigue" star Jerome Thor claims each weekly film takes six working days, 18 hours per day.

KAY WESTFALL

Showcase Theatre, ambitious Evanston legit venture launched by NBC's Hope Summers, has attracted a flock of TV backers, including thespes Kay Westfall, Muriel Bremner, Vera Ward and Fay Roope, producers Ben Park, and Monte Fassnacht, weatherman Russ Reed, announcers Norman Barry and Fahey Flynn. . . . Rumor says the networks are dickering with the three Andrews Sisters for a TV series coming up soon. . . . Singer Patti Page has become an aunt for the 20th time. . . . Chirper Connie Russell, sliced from the Garroway radio show, may drift to Hollywood in search of work. . . . Newscaster Drew Pearson, bounced from the ABC network, will reappear on DuMont Dec. 24. Each Wednesday, he'll follow Captain Video in a sort of anti-climax—from the incredible to the unbelievable. . . . Laraine Day on the Ford Theatre series Dec. 18.

DREW PEARSON

Watch for a "different type" Red Skelton show very shortly. His soap sponsor has laid it on the line to Red to change, or else. Skelton won't ever go back to "live" shows—his doctors forbid it. The alternative is a 50-50 type of program, half Skelton and half guest talent. . . . Frank "Tweet" Hogan landed a scoop for his booking agency in signing Johnny (NoonTime Comics) Coons, the popular kid specialist. . . . Big boost for teen-agers by ABC in skedding "Paul White-man's Teen Club" starting Nov. 22. . . . Applying for TV station permits are Jack Benny, Bob Hope and Bing Crosby. . . . Add to the election prophets newscaster Alex Dreier who predicted on Nov. 2 such things as "Ike by a wide margin," "the revolt of labor against its bosses" and "cracking the solid south."

RED SKELTON

Producer Alan Fishburn defines an Army recruiting officer as "a rookie bookie." . . . Warbler Nancy Evans, who first gained fame on the "Wayne King Show," returns to Chi for a theatre engagement after a one year absence. . . . Rumor that Morey Amsterdam and his "Battle of the Ages" may lose its sponsor. . . . Billy Rose, finished in TV, is trying a comeback as a columnist. D'ya suppose it'd be an "Advice to the Lovelorn?"

TRY FAVORITES TWICE A WEEK!

by WM. A. QUE

LOVE A MYSTERY? Cops-and-robbers are favorites on your Radio, too. And for our money, sound effects plus imagination provide more than sufficient setting and suspense.

You video fans of Jack Webb's Dragnet; The Big Story and Martin Kane, Private Eye should team up with your Radio to enjoy your favorite whodunits TWICE A WEEK.

TRACY

DRAGNET, the award-winning radio documentary based on files from the Los Angeles police department, is now heard Sunday nights at 8:30 over WMAQ—6-7-0 on your Radio. These, as you may know, are the original stories on which Chesterfield's film versions are based.

Ranking with Dragnet as one of the best-narrated, best-acted sleuth shows, is The Big Story (WMAQ, Wednesdays, 8:30 P.M.). This well-paced radio stanza is based—not on police files—but on top front page newspaper stories from cities all over the U.S. Many a Chicago reporter's yarn has been dramatized on Big Story. Each received Pall Mall's $500 award for outstanding journalism.

THOSE CLEVER woven-into-the-story commercials are just as clever on Radio's Martin Kane, Private Eye, you'll find. And of course, Lee Tracy takes the blackjacks, hoods, flat feet and sweet-talking dames in his stride every Sunday afternoon at 3:30 over WMAQ.

Read WM. A. QUE'S radio column in your daily Chicago Herald-American.

We Like Corn

by JACK MABLEY

This list changes almost weekly, but at the moment, our three favorite TV shows are Jack Benny, Victory at Sea, and Ozzie and Harriet.

Eastern critics—the sophisticates of the breed—who sniffed at the Judy Canova show, should realize that it wasn't staged for the benefit of them or others of similar tastes, but for a great crowd of citizens who like good corn. The show was inoffensive.

One hour is too long for the Jackie Gleason program. We'd enjoy it more at 30 minutes.

Tallulah, Bogey and Baby did as much harm to Stevenson's cause as Tex and Jinx and their kind did to Eisenhower's. It's hard on the egos of the famous, and maybe it's unjust, but the average voter just doesn't give a hoot whether an entertainer favors Stevenson, Eisenhower, or Howdy Doody.

Flushed with the success at getting Mister Peepers back on the air, viewers are bombarding the networks with pleas to return Ted Mack to TV, and they are likely to be successful.

More than 100 new television stations have been authorized by the FCC since July, but Chicago's six new ones are still several years away.

If NBC's half-hour Sunday afternoon visit with poet Robert Frost is only half as good as their interview with Bertrand Russell, it will be worth the time of the whole family. It's on Nov. 23 at 4:30.

Word from Hollywood is that television is killing western movies for theaters. What they don't know is that television is also killing western movies for television. The kids are near the saturation point.

Most improved comedian of 1952—Bob Hope. Worst disappointment, Red Skelton. Biggest surprise, Milton Berle.

HAVE YOU VOTED?

Pick Your TV Favorites

THE annual Awards Poll swings into its second week, with a flock of votes already coming in for the viewers' TV favorites. Such names as Arthur Godfrey, Milton Berle, Kukla, Fran and Ollie, Howdy Doody, Gene Autry and Bishop Sheen are well in the forefront.

Last year's poll was instrumental in booming some programs and toppling others. In most cases, the viewers ran well ahead of critics and editors in establishing national tastes in TV shows.

The popularity contest, the only one of its kind open to midwest viewers, will continue for three more weeks. The entire TV industry—stars, agencies, sponsors and networks—are awaiting the results. Viewers must use only the official ballot printed on this page.

Winners in each category will be awarded beautiful gold statuettes, while second and third places will receive handsome certificates. Winners will be named shortly after the final ballot.

This is the chance for TV fans to express their praise and their gripes, and many thousands are taking advantage of it. Mail YOUR ballot in today.

Taking Advantage of Duggan's Good Nature

TV SPORTSCAST

by ED PAZDUR

ON camera, WNBQ's Tom Duggan is a popular, arrogant, hard-punching sportscaster. Off camera, he's a good-natured, outspoken chap with a heart of gold. And I'm afraid his good nature has been taken advantage of—by fight manager Jack Begun.

Begun is a wily guy in a notoriously competitive business. As Rocky Casillo's manager, he's interested in promoting his fighter and unfortunately has chosen television in which to do it.

Appearing on Tom Duggan's show, Begun began a smear campaign against the International Boxing Club and its secretary, Truman Gibson. Duggan wisely permitted Begun to risk libel by allowing the bitter manager to do all the talking. But the most astonishing thing was that Duggan permitted such unruly tactics on his show—the very type of exploitation he has crusaded against. If it's Tom's subtle way of airing some dirty linen, then I'm in complete accord with him.

Rocky Casillo is a cotton-mouthed, self-admitted saloon brawler who has yet to reach the polish and stature required of most rookies. Winner of only eight bouts (one over WENR-TV's Boxing From Rainbo show), Rocky is still an inexperienced, mauling, unskilled slugger who depends on brute force.

With TV Forecast's annual Awards Poll entering its second week, Tom Duggan, who finished second last year, appears to be a slight favorite to win this year. The fighting Irishman is more popular than ever. . . . Wayne Griffin, WENR-TV's colorful grappling commentator at Rainbo, actually begins his wrestling show Wednesday's at 7:30 p.m. It is relayed to some 20 Eastern cities for a full 90 minutes before Chicago picks up Wayne's comments at 9:00 p.m. In his fourth year at the ringside mike, Wayne's wrestling "drama" is probably the oldest network sports show on television.

Cuffnotes: Negotiations are underway to televise Bishop Shiel's CYO boxing finals at the Chicago Stadium, Monday, Dec. 1 over WENR-TV from 8-9:00 p.m. Only obstacle is the lack of a sponsor. . . . Joe Louis has decided to tour the wrestling circuit as a referee. His first was the Stu Gibson-Mighty Atlas show in New York. . . . By the way, isn't it time for Verne Gagne to "defeat" Lou Thesz for the National Wrestling Alliance's version of the heavyweight title?

Danny O'Neil Hosts Breakfast In A Nite Club

BREAKFAST in a cabaret is as far removed from the average housewife as a trip to the moon. But, like a trip to the moon, prospects today are less dim. TV has seen to that.

Chicago's wisp of an Irish tenor, Danny O'Neil, entertains housewives at "breakfast in a (studio) nite club" five mornings a week. This TV snack time consists of coffee and side servings of entertainment—Danny's dewey-eyed tunes and piano impressions by gangling "Uncle" Dick Boyell, morning TV's answer to Jerry Lewis. Within the tight limits of time and commercials, there are also guest acts, interviews, flower awards, a jackpot quiz and a hymn by baritone bus-boy Bob Johnson.

Danny has had many TV roles. In this latest, he's a disciple of that radio charmer and woman-baiter, the late Tom Breneman who pioneered the breakfast table emcee role. In women's hats, Danny may not look as chic as Tom, but could Breneman sing?

"Breakfast With Danny O'Neil" is seen at 10:30 a.m. on WBKB (channel 4).

TOP

 Hymn-singing bus-boy Bob Johnson gets a few tips on how to put a song across from Bossman Danny. Bob was discovered while balancing trays at the Driftwood, Danny's former bistro.

BOTTOM
"An orchid a day"—gimmick borrowed from the breakfast-with-Breneman radio era—finds a worthy owner. Danny presents it to Libertyville's high school home-coming queen, Leslie Gilbert.

Informal chats with Chicago clubwomen are the order of the day at Danny's "cabaret." Here he interviews Mrs. George Brooks (left) while Miss Mamie Olson and Mrs. Dee French await their turn. Ladies are members of the Twosome Club.

Dr. Hildebrand How To Find

Peace

SUNDAY nights Chicago TV is booked solidly with musical shows, dramatic presentations and detective thrillers. Occasionally station personnel realize that Sunday is also the Sabbath and inject religion into the schedule.

Such has been the case of WENR-TV, which some time ago added an inspirational message to their Sunday night TV programs.

But most viewers automatically dial in one of the first three. The "plain talk" direct approach to religion on TV has received little recognition, considering its immense value.

Yet the messages delivered by one of Chicago's TV ministers, the Rev. Kenneth Hildebrand, are far more realistic solutions to man's problems than the escapist methods offered by music, drama or mystery.

Each Sunday night Dr. Hildebrand leads his viewers in a "Quest For Serenity." He uses no lofty terms aimed solely for the outer fringe of intelligentsia. His spiritual guidance is beamed at Mr. Average American. Such secular topics as "How To Handle Worry," "How To Find Happiness," "Mastering Resentment" and "The Problem Of Pain" are treated with realism and just lightly brushed with religion.

Recently Dr. Hildebrand outlined a method of overcoming loneliness. Of the four suggestions, only one directly concerned religion. Adopt a positive spirit, he said. Make it (loneliness) an opportunity to develop interests in new and worthy subjects. Become interested in helping someone else. And finally, let faith give a meaning to your loneliness.

The son of an Army officer, Dr. Hildebrand grew up near Fort Riley, Kan., and received his education in the Sunflower state. He was granted a B.A. degree from the College of Emporia and an M.A. from McCormick Theological Seminary. The College of Emporia gave him a Doctor of Divinity degree.

The Lincolnesque gentleman with the deep-set probing eyes also serves as minister of Central Church in downtown Chicago, one of the oldest non-denominational churches in the country (founded 77 years ago). Aside from his TV chats, Dr. Hildebrand is chairman of the TV committee of the Church Federation of Greater Chicago and has been awarded a fellowship for his work as a student in the NBC Institute. He also serves as director of the Chicago Christian Industrial League. As a counselor, he cooperates with psychiatrists in giving religious guidance.

His radio work has included Central Church services on WCFL; "Design For Living" on WMOR-FM; "Meet The Churchman" on WAAF, and "Day's End" on WMAQ.

Some time ago Rabbi Joshua Loth Liebman penned a treatise entitled "Peace Of Mind." The book, widely sold and recognized, conveyed a message of serenity. Today, Dr. Hildebrand is leading the search for that same serenity on TV. Perhaps his softly-spoken words will have an even stronger effect—but only when mature minds realize that music, drama and mystery can't be an escape from realism.

"Quest For Serenity" can be seen at 9:15 p.m. Sundays on (Channel 7).

STRANGE AND TRUE

SILHOUETTES OF THE WEST

by ROY STARKEY

Everyone knows that it was the Indians who introduced the white man to corn. According to Indian legend this is the corn fields' story. Hiawatha was a member, so the legend says, of the Ojibway Tribe who made their home on the banks of Lake Superior in Northern Michigan. According to the Ojibways he was sent to them by the Great Spirit.

Because all animals were his friends, Hiawatha became very sad one day when they told him they were all being killed off by hunters. Turning his tear filled eyes to the sky, he spoke to the Great Spirit saying, "Must we depend on living animals for food?"

Suddenly a mist appeared in front of him and slowly took shape . . . then out of the mist stepped a golden haired Indian saying, "I am Mandamin . . . wrestle with me, Oh Hiawatha. Win and a wonderful thing will happen."

Hiawatha did as he was told and after a long struggle overcame the yellow haired one. Then the mysterious Indian requested that he be buried loosely in the ground and that Hiawatha daily attend his grave.

This the young Ojibway did until one day a tiny green shoot popped from the rich earth. One after another they shot up until the whole thicket was filled with them. Later, when autumn changed the long green feathers to yellow beads, the Ojibways gathered them and a great feast was held.

After the feast Hiawatha with his tribespeople gathered around him, raised his hands and eyes toward heaven in prayerful thanks for the gift of "Mandamin . . . Indian Corn." This, according to Indian legend, was the gift of the Great Spirit to the peoples of the earth.

Silhouettes of the West is seen Monday thru Friday on channel 4 (WBKB) at 5:30 p.m.

Uncle Herbie

Boys and girls, Roy Rogers' job of rounding up crooks in the West doesn't leave him much time to rest. But he always finds time for a worthy cause. Here Roy is backing the "Worldwide Bible Reading, Thanksgiving to Christmas" program sponsored by the American and Chicago Bible Societies.

If you want to be on Roy's good-partner list, follow his advice and read your Bible regularly. You can get a free bookmark for your Bible by sending a postcard to American Bible Society, 35 E. Wacker Drive, Chicago 1, Ill. The bookmark contains a list of suggested readings for the Thanksgiving to Christmas period.

Here are my Nov. 2 winners:

Reynold Baitano, Chicago; Gwinn Bruce, Grand Haven, Mich; Shoron Chaddock, Benton Harbor, Mich; Robert DeJoseph, Chicago; Noreen Fitzpatrick, Chicago; Nancy Garrison, Chicago; Ruth Howard, Oak Park, Ill; Geraldine Kocmond, Chicago; Melito Kolb, Chicago; Gretchen Konnok, Racine, Wis; Mary Ann Mayfield, Chicago; Lindo McNulty, Munster, Ind; Potty Popenhagen, Richmond, Ill; Charna Rush, Chicago; Sharon Senger, Chicago; Leslie Thimmig Jr., Joliet, Ill; Conrod Wilgus, Chicago.

THIS WEEK'S CONTEST: How many Biblical kings can you name? You may use both the Old and New Testaments. For the longest list, I'll award $1; second longest, 50 cents; next 15 runners-up, 25 cents each. Mail your list to Uncle Herbie, % TV Forecast, 185 N. Wabash Avenue, Chicago 1, Ill., before Sunday, Nov. 30.

DEAR BOSS:

Care to join me? I'm declaring war on Hollywood. As a defender of The Good Old Days of Live Television these Hollywood-filmed TV shows leave me no choice. THIS IS WAR!

Some people will no doubt call me stuffy or a Wart on the Nose of Progress, but I shall wear their epithets as epaulets. To me it has become a Live or Death struggle. Lemme explain:

Take that new film series, My Hero, starring Robert Cummings a week ago last Saturday night. Technically it was very well done. The acting of the principals was excellent. Bob's hair-trigger timing of his comedy lines was most commendable. The writing was several cuts above the level of stuff we've been getting in most of those H'wood TV jobs. So, what's the beef?

Well, I say there is something missing. My Hero is a Hollywood version of Mister Peepers. Bob Cummings is prettier than Wally Cox and he plays an inept real estate salesman instead of a junior high science teacher but otherwise the set-up is about parallel.

Yet, I like television because it's a kind of knot-hole in the fence of drama, sports, music or political inventions. The filmed slickness of the My Hero show somehow spoils that feeling that things are happening NOW.

I guess it's because I know Bob Cummings has wiped off his sweat and grease paint and has already forgotten his lines, lo these many weeks. All that's left is a few hundred feet of his image on film in a projector down at the studio. Any little slip-ups of people or cameras or microphones are all tossed out on the cutting room floor.

So I get cheated by just that much. I don't get to see the tiny signs of struggle as a bunch of actors create a story before my eyes. The Live flowed out of My Hero there on the cutting room floor.

LETTERS to the editor

I think Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts is a wonderful show because it gives people a chance to be discovered. But I think they should have a better class audience. On Oct. 27 there was a wonderful piano player, a wonderful couple that sang together, four terrible boys that sang and one corny man that sang. So what happens? The boys came in second and the man came in first. Shows that audience doesn't recognize talent.

I think the "Good Living" series is wonderful, but why can't it be on in the afternoon? What homemaker can sit & watch TV at 11:30 a.m.? I burn the potatoes, or I'm late with the family's lunch, or I hear a little now & then, and see nothing which burns me up.

St. Anne, Ill.

MRS. WILLIAM KERR

I would like to know for my own information and incidentally, a slight bet. Is Clifton Utley a personal friend of Governor Stevenson? Also, is he one of Gov. Stevenson's ghost writers? Particularly during the recent presidential campaign? If you can give me an answer to these questions, I'd appreciate it.

Flossmoor, Ill.

MRS. SIDNEY BLOOM

Ed. Note: Clifton is a staunch admirer of both Ike and Adlai which may have made him look biased on any one given show. He was not a ghost writer however.

I have been saving the issue of Oct. 25th until I had time to defend Dr. Bergen Evans—not that he requires any assist from me. How can anyone be so unkind as to remark about any handicap suffered by another. I wonder if Mr. Pulliam has ever heard his own voice. He may sound like a jeep squeak and he certainly doesn't have the brains or finesse of Dr. Evans. . . .

Evanson, Ill.

MRS. RICHARD H. WEST

I think that Jack Benny's last TV show was great!! Our family never laughed so hard.

Rockford, Ill.

J. P. CHURCHILL

Although it's a little late, let me extend my compliments on your article "All About Imogene." . . . Imogene is really one gal that's "out of this world" in the entertainment field. No one can match this gal for mimicry. . . . I'm a great admirer of hers.
